Hi Craig:

Rick Parkin is our point person on this process. He knows a lot more about the details than I do. I've copied him on this message. Rick is in Alaska all this week, so will be better positioned to get back to you next week. As you can imagine, we are getting a lot of inquiries on this subject, so please bear with us as we work our way through our list.

Thanks you for your interest.

Subject: Bristol Bay Scientific Assessment

Marianne:

I am a mining equities analyst based in Toronto that has been following the Bristol Bay debate as it relates to the potential Pebble mine project. I work for TD Securities, the investment dealer arm of TD Bank, Canada's second largest national bank.

Could we arrange a time today for a phone call? I'd like to understand better the process and timing for this assessment, EPA versus State jurisdiction, and how this assessment might relate to the formal EIA permitting process.

I am pleased to see the EPA getting involved as it should bring both science and objectivity to the discussion.

My schedule is very flexible today.

Thank you.
